

McGovern charges Nixon administration corrupt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George S. McGovern charged today that the Nixon administration is the most corrupt in the nation's history. Not only that, the Democratic presidential nominee said, it has corrupted America.

In a hard-hitting address at the annual UPI conference of editors and publishers, McGovern also assailed the administration for continuing "an unjust war." He said, "Now we know the war could end at any moment if we would only break free from the brutal regime in Saigon."

"Our sacred honor," the senator added, "is laid at the feet of dictators, dope runners and gangsters in Saigon—a government that subverts our ideals just as eagerly as it steals our aid."

But McGovern targeted chiefly on what he called domestic corruption by the Nixon administration.

"Yesterday on (the NBC program) Meet the Press, my wife said that the current administration was the most corrupt administration in recent history," McGovern said. "I agree with that—with one modification. I would leave out the word 'recent.'"

He added, "At no time have we witnessed official corruption as wide or as deep as the mess in Washington right now."

Before embarking on a new campaign trip to New Jersey and New York today, McGovern declared: "We face not merely the shoddy corruption that permits powerful men to buy what they want from public officials, but the steady corruption of our own precious values as a country."

"Today we face not merely the corruption of government but the corruption of America."

"The Nixon mess in Washington includes the corruption of our ideals in an unjust war as well as the corruption of the Justice Department in the ITT case."

"It includes the corruption of our Constitution by assaults on the freedom of the press as well as the corruption of our tax code by loopholes for a wealthy few."

"It includes the corruption of our political process by attempts to hide the real issues of 1972 as well as the corruption of law enforcement by attempts to hide the truth about the Watergate (Democratic headquarters) burglary last June."

McGovern described Vietnam as an unjust war which "corrupts our principles".

"The Thieu regime cannot be talked clean by official deception," he said, "and it cannot be washed clean by American blood. Instead, our precious values are corrupted by the very government we fight to defend."

Chilson wants to serve on hospital board again

By VAUGHN PROCTOR
Staff writer

Robert Chilson, who missed the deadline for filing to succeed himself on Lompoc Hospital District Board of Directors has telephoned from Oregon to indicate he wishes to serve again.

Chilson missed the Sept. 1 deadline for filing for the November Election because he was late in returning from an extended vacation in the Northwest.

Ken Wicks, hospital administrator and secretary of the board, said Chilson was "chagrined" that he had missed the deadline and that he wanted to serve again if the board saw fit to appoint him to succeed himself.

Chilson's seat and one held by Harold Thompson were up for reelection. Thompson filed nomination papers for the election, but Chilson did not. In the absence of Chilson and since no one else had filed for either of the two upcoming vacancies, the board moved to dissolve the election plans as mandated by law. It was assumed that the board would appoint both directors to succeed themselves, but the action was held in abeyance pending information indicating Chilson's plans.

Wicks said Chilson called from Oregon last Thursday to say he wished to serve again if the board saw fit to appoint him. Wicks said Chilson was having car trouble and that it would take him about 10 days to return home. That would be next Sunday.

Meanwhile the board will meet Thursday to review the matter and also to review problems surrounding the application to build a 74-bed convalescent hospital for which voters have already approved a bond issue of $1.5 million.

Wicks had hoped the state Comprehensive Health Planning Council would consider a request this month for a variance to clear the way for construction, but it appears that it will be November before the state body can hear the issue. The district must apply for a variance on the project because the plans for 74 beds exceed the number indicated by the state general plan for hospital services.

The further delay could push the construction back until after the first of the new year.

Nixon, Gromyko meet to discuss troop cutback

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon met today with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and American sources said the United States was ready to start preliminary negotiations with the Soviet Union on troop reductions in Europe.

Nixon and Gromyko sat side by side on gold colored chairs in the President's oval office. They will get together again tonight, probably for longer discussions, at a working dinner the President is giving for Gromyko at his Camp David retreat.

Sitting in on the White House session were Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Nixon's national security adviser Henry A. Kissinger and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Newsmen were admitted for only the first minute or so of the session and heard Nixon and Gromyko exchange comments about the effectiveness of the United Nations.

"There is always work to do in the U.N. organization," Gromyko said through an interpreter. "It is not always productive but there is always work to be done."

"I agree with both sentences," Nixon responded.

Gromyko spoke at the United Nations last week. So did Rogers. Rogers told Nixon, "He gave a good speech."

Gromyko responded, "We closely followed with interest the speech of the secretary of state. It was an interesting speech."

Nixon observed, "That's diplomatic language."

Gromyko replied, "it's saying a great deal."

Tonight's dinner originally had been scheduled for the White House but Nixon, who spent the weekend at Camp David, ordered the change of location.

"We have a good day to go to Camp David today...the leaves are beginning to turn (to fall colors)," he told the Soviet official.

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. jets Sunday flew through "more antiaircraft fire than I've ever seen before," one Navy pilot was quoted as saying today, but escaped unscathed in a bombing run on a shipyard in the major North Vietnamese port city of Haiphong.

The fighter-bombers also braved heavy missile fire to carry out the attack, the U.S. 7th Fleet said.

U.S. B52 bombers Sunday and today hit provinces around Saigon to blunt Communist harassment that officers believe may be a prelude to an attack on the capital later this month, the U.S. command said. One of the strikes hit a longtime Communist infiltration route only 29 miles from Saigon.

The command said a U.S. Air Force F105 jet was shot down Friday 43 miles west of Hanoi and that both crewmen are missing. The F105 went down in the same general area bombed the previous day by swing-wing F111 jets in their first Indochina mission in four years.

North Vietnam announced it shot down one of the F111's, although the U.S. command as usual had no comment. However, the downing of the F105 the following day raised speculation that it was on a search-and-rescue mission for a downed plane. F105's carry missiles, not bombs, and are used exclusively as escorts.

Navy pilots from the carrier Midway bombed Haiphong shipyard No. 3 at the southwestern edge of town and reported destroying 10 supply buildings. The shipyard had been previously bombed July 31.

Later in the day Midway pilots bombed the Chap Khe barracks and supply storage area 11 miles northeast of Haiphong, the Navy said.

"There was more 85mm (antiaircraft) fire than I've ever seen before," Lt. (j.g.) Ben Thompson, of Joplin, Mo., was quoted as saying. "As I looked back at the target area after my run it was covered with smoke."

The heavy cruiser Newport News neared the Philippines for repairs today after an explosion 24 hours earlier killed 19 sailors and injured at least 10 in one of the worst accidents of the war. The blast, which knocked out a turret holding three of the cruiser's nine eight-inch guns, forced the ship from its battle station in the Tonkin Gulf. It was the worst naval accident since fire swept the aircraft carrier Forrestal in July, 1967, killing 134 crewmen.

The cruiser was shelling Communist positions near Quang Tri City, in South Vietnam's northernmost region, when the explosion occurred. A Navy spokesman ruled out the possibility the vessel was hit by shore fire from North Vietnam.

In another Sunday accident, U.S. Army helicopters supporting government troops on the central coast fired into a hamlet near Mo Duc district town and wounded five South Vietnamese soldiers and 15 civilians, Saigon command sources said.

They said the helicopters, after being fired upon from the hamlet 400 yards from the town, received permission from government ground controllers to return the fire, on each other to arrange the Sidky visit.

The Egyptians had demanded that Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev come to Cairo if he wanted to restore relations to their former level. The Russians, in reply, proposed low-level talks in Moscow.

Assad acted as mediator during a two-day secret visit to Moscow that ended Friday. He returned home to Damascus after a stopover in Cairo and three hours of talks with Sadat,

Supreme Court opens fall term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With refurbished chambers and the first girl page in history, the Supreme Court opened its fall term today facing hard constitutional issues on obscenity, abortion, free speech and education.

As assistant marshal Robert R. Wilkins intoned the traditional "oyez, oyez," the nine justices entered the newly painted and relighted chamber for a four-minute opening ceremony during which eight attorneys were admitted to practice before the nation's highest court.

Afterwards, they went into a private conference room where they will spend the next four days deciding whether to hear several hundred appeals that have accumulated since they recessed June 29.

On Oct. 10, the results of their conferences will be announced in a thick sheaf of orders. Written opinions are not likely to be issued before November at the earliest.

As the court convened for its 1972-73 term, Deborah Gelin, 14, of suburban Rockville, Md., was among the four pages who serve as aides to the justices. She is the first girl to serve as a page.

Egypt Premier to visit Soviet Union

United Press International

Egypt's decision to send Premier Aziz Sidky to Moscow is the first break in the stalemate in Soviet-Egyptian relations since President Anwar Sadat threw out 15,000 Soviet military advisers in July, diplomatic sources in Cairo said today.

In Beirut, the Yemeni Embassy said the border town of Qataba had fallen to Southern Yemeni invaders after a 15-hour air and artillery bombardment and called on the Yemeni people "to defend their soil" against the attackers.

Yemeni Army Commander Col. Hussein Al Masouri Sunday rejected a call by Southern Yemen for an end to the fighting, the Middle East News Agency said today in Beirut. The agency said he told newsmen in Sanaa that fighting would not end until the North Yemeni border town is liberated.

The Sidky visit to Moscow, expected at mid-month and arranged through the intervention of Syrian President Hafez Assad, will represent the highest level of contact between the two sides since Sadat's ouster decree.

Sidky will be seeking Soviet assurances of continued supplies of arms and spare parts in his talks with the Soviet leadership. But diplomatic sources stressed the talks are not expected to result in a return of the massive Soviet presence in Egypt.

Extend wage, price controls?

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—Wage and price controls should be extended through 1973 and the wage raise limit reduced from 5.5 per cent to 4 per cent, according to Neil Jacoby, a member of the federal Pay Board.

Higher taxes would keep down inflation-causing spendable income, he said. Jacoby's recommendations were made in Center Report, a magazine published by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

Jacoby predicted the administration's goal of reducing inflation to 3 per cent or less by the end of this year would be achieved.

He urged, however, that inflation be cut to 1.5 per cent.

He called for:

- Extension of wage and price controls through 1973;
- Reduction of the Pay Board's salary raise guideline from 5.5 per cent to 4 per cent, with a corresponding tightening of price controls;
- Price ceilings in industries where demand is growing faster than supply, such as for lumber;
- Elimination of "structural rigidities from labor and commodity markets."

Fastest gun in the world

PASADENA (UPI)—It really is the fastest gun in the world, not to mention the West.

And scientists at the California Institute of Technology say their new design—which will fire bullets at speeds up to 30,000 miles an hour—will be able to tell them some important facts about the center of the earth.

The "gun" will shoot plastic bullets at adjustable speeds at core samples of different rocks and minerals. It will be able to simulate in the target the great temperatures and pressures that exist beneath the earth's crust.

By measuring and comparing the shock waves from these experiments, explained Dr. T. H. Ahrens, associate professor of geophysics, "We hope to be able to determine whether silicone or sulphur is the dominant element, in alloy with iron, in the earth's core."

Answering such a question would provide a big clue to the formation of the planet. Ahrens said if the core was found to be silicone, it would mean high temperatures and that the earth formed quickly.

Nader to release report on Congress this week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ralph Nader, who has investigated everything from dirty meat to defective cars, this week unveils the first results of the biggest raid of his career — a report on the U.S. Congress, the nation's "greatest underachiever".

"Nader is crazy to do this— every congressman he criticizes becomes an enemy," one lawmaker claimed. Others like Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., were enthusiastic about the probe.

Known officially as "The Ralph Nader Congress Project Citizens Look At Congress", the investigation is costing Nader $200,000 which he raised through the lecture circuit and article writing.

On Tuesday, he will release a 225-page paperback book "Who Runs Congress?" Within two weeks, the book will be followed by "profiles" on every member of the House and Senate. Between then and January, Nader will release:

- Studies on all of the key committees on Congress.
- A series of separate studies on how Congress works and how it could be reformed.

—A 250-page paperback entitled "You and Your Congress: A Citizens's Handbook".

—A 250-page "Handbook for Members" designed to brief newly-elected congressmen on how Congress works.

Anniversary of first jet flight

EDWARDS AFB (UPI) —On this day 30 years ago, wrapped in wartime secrecy, the first significant flight of a jet airplane in the United States took place.

Members of the Jet Pioneers Association of America gathered today at this Air Force base to celebrate the anniversary.

On Oct. 2, 1942, on a heavily guarded airstrip secluded in a gunnery range in the Mojave Desert, test pilot Robert Stanley sat at the controls of one of the U.S. Army Air Corps' top secrets—the Bell XP59 Airacomet.

It had been built at the Bell plant in Buffalo, N.Y., using an experimental engine developed with British help at the General Electric Co. plant in Lynn, Mass.

Work areas involved in both plants had been sealed off for its development by specially cleared workers. It was identified only as a project to build the "type 1 supercharger."

At midnight on Sept. 12, 1942, only 10 months after the United States entered World War II, Army guards stood watch over a deserted area of a railroad siding at the Niagara Mohawk Power Co. in Buffalo. A crane lowered two crates onto a flatcar and the disassembled XP59, America's first jet plane, headed west.

It was put together at what was then the Muroc Bombing and Gunnery Range, and is now Edwards Air Force Base.

The 11,000-pound plane had two engines, feeble in thrust by today's standards.

On Oct. 1, after several days of taxiing up and down the runway, Stanley made the country's first jet "hop," rising a prudent 10 feet above the ground and dropping back.

The first real flight was scheduled for the next day.

Theodore J. Rogers, of General Electric, who helped build the engines, later recalled:

"The plane rolled ever so slowly at first, with us mentally pushing it on, but soon began to pick up speed, until just opposite us it lifted gently into the air."

"What a strange feeling this seemingly giant bird gave us as it approached. There was dead silence as it passed directly overhead—then a low rumbling roar like a blowtorch—and it was gone, leaving a smell of kerosene in the air."

That first flight lasted 10 minutes.

35 members were interviewed personally. Each was allowed to check the final profile, but only "for factual errors."

Some of the lawmakers are less than happy about the Nader project. One particular target of criticism was a 96-page questionnaire Nader's staff asked each congressman to fill out.

"I can't give that kind of

Van Thieu rejects coalition government plan

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu today rejected Communist proposals for a coalition government in his country and predicted the war will "fade away" after another North Vietnamese offensive that could come this year.

"The Republic of (South) Vietnam has an elected government. It is the sole body which has the right to solve the war," he said in a state-of-the-country message to a Congress he has rendered powerless.

"Any solution must come from the right of self-determination of the people of South Vietnam and only South Vietnam, based on a spirit of reconciliation, love and unity."

Thieu called for a military victory over the Communists and predicted another offensive "this year." He added, "After this last fight, the war will fade away."

Irate boyfriend killing suspect

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—A dairy farmer, his wife and son and a house guest were shot to death Sunday and police charged a former boyfriend of the couple's daughter with the slayings.

The daughter, Evelyn Sanders, 21, was spared and later notified police who arrested Thomas Turner Chambers, 32, an itinerant farm worker from Gadsden, Ala., and Robert Gerald Harris, 21, of Largo, Fla., on murder charges.

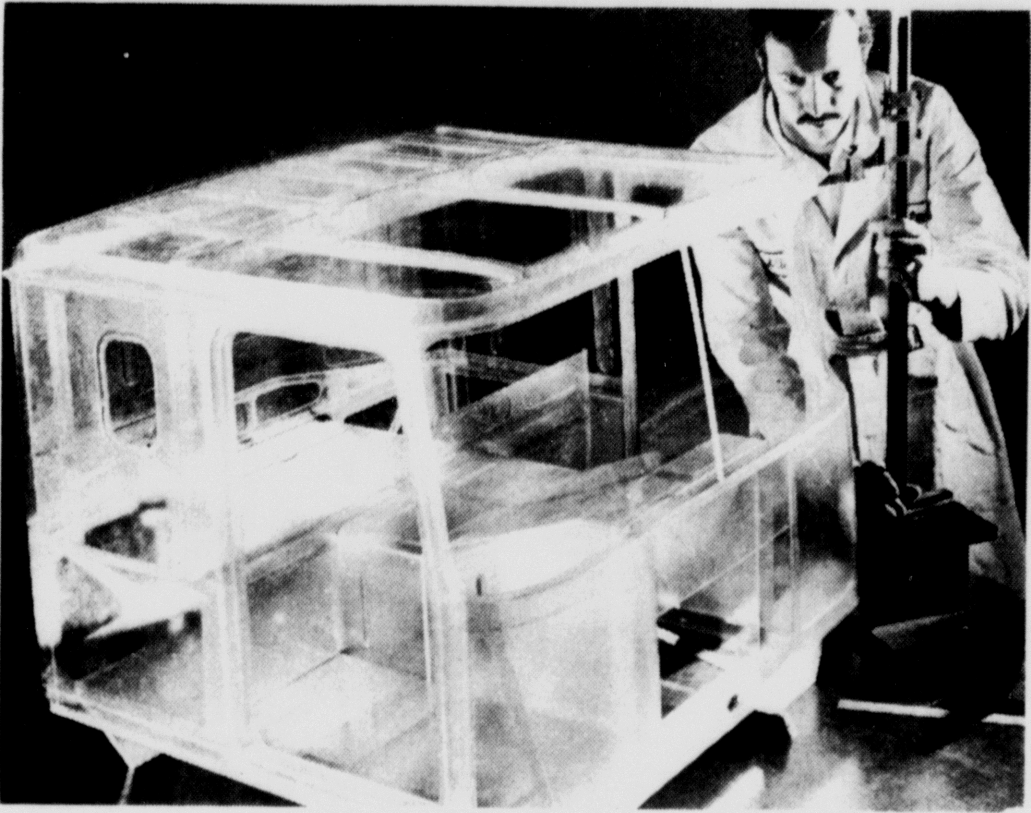

Chambers and Harris were caught after a high speed chase over the Howard Franklin Bridge across Tampa Bay.

The shootings occurred at the dairy farm of John Thomas Sanders, 50, in Brandon, a Tampa suburb, around 3:30 a.m. Sunday.

Hillsborough County sheriff's department spokesmen said Chambers walked into the Sanders home with an automatic rifle and shot Sanders, his wife, Catherine, 37, a son, Earl Thomas Sanders, 15, and a house guest, James Raymond Bridges, 28.

Evelyn and her two young children were not harmed, and another Sanders son was at work when the shootings took place.

Deputies said Chambers had been living with Evelyn, a divorcee, for the past three or four years. They said Chambers is the father of her youngest child.

Welfare load down, costs up

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Since the heralded 1971 Welfare Reform Act went into effect, the welfare caseload has shrunk by 220,653 recipients but welfare costs have still soared.

Observing the one-year anniversary of the act Sunday, Gov. Ronald Reagan said the "reform" succeeded in reversing the upward spiral of welfare and Medi-Cal costs.

However, the state's records showed that during the 1971-72 fiscal year ending July 1, welfare costs increased $105 million.

Reagan explained this by saying, "If welfare and Medi-Cal reforms had not been undertaken and welfare rolls and Medi-Cal costs had continued to rise at their pre-reform rate, the taxpayers would have spent an additional $1 billion (federal, state and local funds) on welfare and Medi-Cal by this time."

Body buried after 61 years

LAURINBURG, N.C. (UPI)— After 61 years of waiting for burial, Forenzio Concippio's body has been laid to rest and his coffin cemented into the ground to prevent the remains from ever being disturbed again.

About 100 local citizens and a few newsmen were on hand Saturday as the Italian immigrant's body — which spent most of those 61 years in an upright, glass-covered coffin at the McDougald Funeral Home — was buried in a 10-minute ceremony.

Hewitt McDougald, the funeral home director, said he conducted the funeral, with Father Frederick Gilbert officiating, after raising the money to pay for it from "white Scotland County folks."

Asked the reason for the cement, McDougald said, "I didn't want anybody out there digging him up."

Two-planet space shot plans

PASADENA (UPI) — The first two-planet space shot will set two other firsts: An unmanned probe of Mercury, closest planet to the sun, and a photographic look at Venus.

The mission will also be the first to utilize the gravitational pull of one planet to propel a spacecraft to another.

Details of the Mariner 10 MVM (Mariner-Venus-Mercury) project were revealed Sunday by the Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) of California Institute of Technology, which is managing the project for NASA.

Plans call for the Mariner 10 to be launched from Cape Kennedy in October or November of 1973, pass by Venus in February, 1974, and—with a "boost" from the gravitational field of Venus—swing by Mercury a month later.

The spacecraft will pass within 635 miles of Mercury on man's first close look at that sun-seared planet, about which many important questions have yet to be resolved. It will try to determine the nature of the planet's surface, the temperatures there (thought to soar to 700 degrees or more during the midpoint of the long day, equal to 59 Earth days), search for traces of an atmosphere, and any local variations in the color or brightness of the surface. Mercury is difficult to examine from the Earth because it is so close to the sun.

Then the Mariner will loop past Venus, at 3,300 miles, probing for holes in the thick clouds that wrap the planet in mystery and examining the ultraviolet markings that have been noted. Two U.S. space probes flew by Venus in the past, in 1962 and 1967, but they carried no cameras. Neither did the Russian spacecraft that fell silent after minutes on the Venusian surface.

The 1,100-pound Mariner 10 will carry two television cameras.

Senate and National Assembly while he was at Independence Palace to meet Maj. Gen. Alexander Haig, a White House emissary sent by President Nixon to brief Thieu on the latest developments in secret Paris peace talks.

The 21-page message was harsher in tone than recent Thieu pronouncements but covered essentially familiar ground.

"Our last aim is to defeat the Communists, render them strengthless and force them to relinquish their ambition to take over South Vietnam," Thieu said. "Then peace will be guaranteed."

He said South Vietnam and its allies wanted a cease-fire throughout Indochina, "but the Communists are afraid of it. The North Vietnamese Communists are responsible for the troubled situation in Indochina. They are the invaders, they have no right in South Vietnam." He demanded a total North Vietnamese withdrawal, although he was not clear whether a pullout would have an effect on the cease-fire.

Undercover agents breakup drug party

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Police undercover agents disguised as sailors broke up a huge narcotics party aboard a ferryboat on San Francisco Bay Sunday night and arrested 45 persons.

"We could have arrested almost all the 330 people on the boat but we just booked the most flagrant violators, like the ones who tried to sell us stuff," said narcotics Inspector Arthur Gerrans.

Gerrans and fellow inspectors Napoleon Hendrix and Loyd Yeargin dressed up in crewmen's overalls and passed themselves off as deck hands aboard the red and white cruise vessel.

Marijuana, hashish, cocaine and some heroin was seized by the officers. The suspects were taken into tow by police who lined the docks in patrol cars and paddy wagons.

Those arrested included two juveniles.

Inspector Hendrix said almost all those arrested were from the San Francisco Peninsula and his office had been informed of the party by San Mateo County law enforcement agencies.

POW says treatment humane

United Press International
Navy Lt. Markham L. Gartley, one of the three POWs who returned home last week, said Sunday his North Vietnamese captors were "humane" but his imprisonment was "no bed of roses."

Gartley, who spent more than four years in a North Vietnamese prisoner of war camp, returned to the U.S. last Thursday along with former POWs, Navy Lt. (j.g.) Norris A. Charles and Air Force Maj. Edward K. Elias. They were resting and undergoing medical checkups at military facilities.

Gartley said at a news conference at St. Albans Naval Hospital in New York City his "treatment during captivity had been humane." He then left for another U.S. Navy facility in Jacksonville, Fla.

Gartley, in uniform, said he was not brainwashed by his captors and his treatment as a prisoner was good, considering conditions in North Vietnam.

"I have not been mistreated," he said. "Prisons anywhere in the world are no bed of roses and this one, of course, was no exception."

Later in Jacksonville, Gartley, 28, was greeted by Mrs.

Byron Fuller, Mrs. Randolph Ford and Mrs. Carl Crumpler, local wives whose husbands also were POWs.

Gartley told Mrs. Fuller he had been in the same prison camp with her husband, Capt. R. Byron Fuller, in 1968. Fuller's plane was shot down in July, 1967, but Mrs. Fuller knew he was alive.

Mrs. Randolph Ford, who had no definite knowledge whether her husband was still alive, also confirmed Gartley brought news of her husband, but she refused to say what Gartley told her.

Gartley told Mrs. Crumpler he had no contact with her husband, Col. Carl Crumpler, who has been a prisoner for four years. Mrs. Crumpler said she had received mail irregularly from her husband.

Navy spokesman said Gartley would remain in the Jacksonville Naval Hospital until his medical examination is completed.

Meanwhile, Charles, 27, spent a "relaxed" schedule Sunday at Balboa Naval Hospital in San Diego, where he was visited by his wife and parents, a Navy spokesman said.

The spokesman said Charles has been busy reading news summaries that covered his period of captivity.

No motive expected against Corona

DAIRFIELD (UPI)—The prosecution resumes its opening statement in the Juan Corona mass murder trial today with indications it does not expect to prove a motive for the 25 killings.

Assistant Prosecutor Bart Williams has given the 10-man, two-woman jury a recital of the gruesome details surrounding the 1971 slayings. All the victims were transient farmworkers who suffered chopping type wounds.

Doctors will testify, Williams said, that the victims died from stab and hack wounds and massive skull fractures.

When the trial recessed Friday for the weekend, Williams was only partially through his 10-part opening statement which he told the jurors is a broad outline of the state's circumstantial case.

The prosecution has not touched on a motive and Williams said outside the courtroom "it will be pretty much up to them (the jury) to draw their own conclusions."

"Motive is not part of the crime. If you have it, fine; if not, fine."

Defense attorney Richard Hawk is expected to make an immediate rebuttal which he said probably would last about two hours.

While the assistant prosecutor began detailing the state's case, the 38-year-old defendant, a Mexican national, studied a book on U.S. citizenship requirements. He glanced up only occasionally from his reading to watch the prosecutor.

Williams began his remarks with a grave-by-grave description of what sheriff's deputies exhumed from graves dotting a river bank near Yuba City.

Some of the victims, Williams said, had their trousers pulled down when their bodies were unearthed. He said the sexual organs of some were exposed but did not elaborate.

Earlier in the trial, Hawk hammered away at the theme that the murders were the work of a "homosexual, homicidal maniac" and that Corona is not a homosexual. Hawk has advanced the theory that Corona's half brother, Natividad, may be the killer.

Williams said deputies would testify that they discovered under the front seat of Corona's pickup a bolo machete in a leather-zipped bag with two pairs of men's shorts—one pair with blood on it.

Head identified
SANTA CRUZ (UPI)—A human head found in an auto wrecking dumpgrounds a month ago has been identified as that of a missing Camarillo woman, the Santa Cruz County coroner's office said today.

The coroner's office said the head was that of Mary Ann Pesce, 19, who was reported missing while hitchhiking from San Francisco on May 11.

Her body has not been found. Still missing is another woman, Anita Luchessa, who was with Miss Pesce at the time.

The head, found by hikers, was identified through dental examination, the coroner's office said.

Daily Record

MOTHERS of Lompoc Senior High School students will hold an organizational meeting Wednesday, 10 a.m., at the school cafeteria. All those wishing to join the group are urged to attend.

TOOLS and auto parts valued at $251 have been reported stolen from the car of Richard Allen Fink of Barracks 8122 Vandenberg Air Force Base. The loss was incurred while the vehicle was parked in the 400 Block of West Pine Avenue, according to the police report.

HOBART H. McGraw, 40, of 701 Hemlock St., Vandenberg Air Force Base, faces action in Lompoc Justice Court today on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol. McGraw was arrested early today on Highway 246 west of V Street. Bail was set at $720 to reflect a previous conviction on the same charge.

DEMOCRATIC Headquarters will be open next Sunday to accommodate those who wish to register to vote in the November general election before the deadline at midnight, Oct. 8. The headquarters at 204 North H Street will be open from 1 to 9 p.m. Sunday. It also will be open Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Friday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., with a general open house from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday. Voter information and registration are available.

DESTRUCTIVE INSECT
The boll weevil causes an annual loss of about $200 million in cotton and cotton seed in the south although many sections have switched to other crops. The ravenous insects attack a plant's fruiting buds in the spring and later infest the bolls—unripe pods containing lint and seed.

Lompoc committee for Lemucchi organized

A Lompoc area committee working for the election of Tim Lemucchi, a Bakersfield lawyer, to the new 36th Congressional District seat has been announced by his Lompoc co-chairmen.

Co-chairmen Michael Palmer and Mary J. Molihan said the committee members working for the Democratic candidate are: Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Bartels, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hicks, Henrietta Slater, Constance Steffen, Carol Fiantago, Sandra Skinner and Gail Steiger.

The new district will remove the Crestview Terrace section of Lompoc and Vandenberg AFB from the 13th Congressional District. Incumbent Congressman Charles Teague continues to represent the area until the seating of a congressman for the new district.

Peace long enough to pray; killing goes on BELFAST (UPI)—Northern Ireland's embattled Protestants and Roman Catholics buried their differences long enough Sunday to pray together for peace during Ulster's deadliest weekend in months. But the killing continued today.

A British army intelligence agent was killed when gunmen intercepted a plainclothes patrol, riddling its light truck with bullets. The soldier was the 594th person to die in three years of bloodshed between Northern Ireland's religious groups, the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA) and the British army.

Eight other persons died and scores were wounded Saturday and Sunday. While the guns still blazed, Catholic and Protestant gathered at more than 30 joint services — an unprecedented gesture — to pray for an end to the killing.

An army spokesman said Ulster's six counties had "a very quiet night," as if in answer to the joint prayers. But with daylight the bombing and shooting began again.

In Belfast, residents from the Protestant Shankill and Catholic Falls Road strongholds knelt together among the tombstones of the Falls Road Cemetery.

"I don't think they have ever been together before," said the Rev. Ian Patterson, a Protestant clergyman from the Shankill district who attended the service.

Addressing the gathering, Marie McLwaine and Heather Maxwell, 13-year-old Protestants, offered this prayer:

"We ask for peace so that soon we may be able to play our games, to sleep at night and go to school without being afraid."

Joining the two girls on the platform, Kevin Ramsey and Christopher Carland, 17-year-old Catholics, said: "Help us when we are tempted to do what is wrong, to do what is right instead."

The service provided a rare occasion for Protestants to visit graves of relatives and friends in the cemetery, generally a battleground between British troops and gunmen of the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

In Armagh, 25 miles southwest of Belfast, 4,000 Catholics and Protestants knelt in driving rain in the city's market square in a 20-minute service for prayers for peace and reconciliation among the two communities.

McGovern says Nixon has campaign against press

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern charged today the Nixon administration had launched a deliberate and sustained campaign to discredit newspapers and broadcasters and was seeking to replace the press corps "with a cheering section."

He told the opening session of the annual UPI Editors and Publishers Conference that "this administration has tried to bully the press into docile submission."

"It has launched a deliberate, sustained campaign to discredit newspapers and broadcasters," McGovern said. "It has misused federal law enforcement officers to investigate the personal lives of reporters."

"And for the first time in our history, we have seen the government attempt to prevent—and then to punish—the publication of critical facts—not because it harmed the country but because it embarrassed the government."

He referred to the administration's attempt to prevent publication of the Pentagon Papers in legal moves that went all the way to the Supreme Court.

Public is invited to two day event

WSCS slates "Family- A-Fair"

"Family-A-Fair" is the name chosen for the arts and crafts show this weekend at First United Methodist Church. Sponsoring the annual event Oct. 6-7 is the Women's Society of Christian Service. The public is invited. Hours are 4-9 p.m. Friday and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on

DEAR ABBY: All our friends know that Willie and I neither drink nor serve any drinks in our home. We aren't "holier than thou" about it. We do go where liquor is served, but we quietly sip a soft drink. Last week we had a backyard barbecue for 40. We had a lovely fruit punch bowl and everyone had a fine time. The guests drained the punch bowl quickly as it was quite warm. Some of the folks seemed noisier than usual, and I myself felt warm waves, but I thought I was just having hot flashes, which is not unusual for my time of life.

After the party, the hired lady said she had heard one guest tell another that "Mr. X" had emptied a quart of vodka into our punch bowl! (We found the empty bottle in our trash!). "Mr. X" is a good friend of ours and we knew he imbibed, but what do you think of a friend who would betray his host and hostess in this manner?

I say we should let him know he didn't get away with anything. My husband says to skip it. What do you say?

BETRAYED DEAR BETRAYED: I'm with your husband. But if you invite "Mr. Z" to another party, frisk him before you let him in the house.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl just starting high school and I just had my eyes examined and found out I have to wear glasses. Abby, I feel terrible about it because I am a pretty girl with a nice figure, and I'm afraid glasses will spoil my looks. I asked if I couldn't have contact lenses but my parents said, "No, they are too expensive." I am getting my glasses tomorrow. Someone wrote me a note saying: "GUYS DON'T MAKE PASSES AT GALS WHO WEAR GLASSES." This made me feel even worse. Please cheer me up.

FOUR EYES DEAR FOUR EYES: That little verse is passe. Try this one: "Guys will make passes at girls who wear glasses providing the dames have good looking frames."

DEAR ABBY: I liked your answer

Saturday. Pat (Mrs. Darrell) Brandon is general chairman.

Displayed in 15 booths will be a wide variety of items for sale. In addition some displays will show creative expressions of church families.

Outstanding is the 2x3 foot stained glass window made by Joe Whalley.

A descending dove symbolizes the descent of the Holy Spirit. Other stained glass items will include candle holders and flowers on stands. The work of Mrs. Whalley, WSCS president, are quotation banners. All of these are for sale.

Members of the senior high United Methodist Youth Fellowship have made macrame and leather items and decorator candles. The Brandons will show Christmas decorations, "Eye of God" wall hangings and samples of Darrell's watercolors.

Polished rock jewelry is the work of Ernie Smith; decoupage and other decorative items that of Winifred Ferris; jewelry, Bobby Lee; ceramics, Iva (Mrs. Clarence) Casper. Beth (Mrs. Robert) Mott will display art works, Carl Bolte, a coin collection. Also shown will be a foreign doll collection and oriental temple rubbings, children's toys and clothes, needlepoint items, watercolors and acrylics.

Since this is a "Family-A-Fair," children will be encouraged to participate in making craft items "on the spot" as their parents browse. Here Mrs. Robert Montgomery will be in charge of activities. Yarn, wood scraps, nails, rocks, empty cans, felt, match boxes, spools and jewelry will be used to keep little ones busy and happy.

Also offered for sale will be a refreshment treat of homemade ice cream and cake.

Proceeds from the weekend event will go to the WSCS project of the year — Plaza Community Center in central Los Angeles. The Center assists lower income groups of all races, mostly black, white, Mexican, Puerto Ricans.

Provided is child day care for working mothers, a reading program for illiterates, tutoring program for children, boy and girl club activities, a senior citizen program and a Thrift Shop.

Other WSCS projects throughout the year will provide further donations.

Susan Darg, James Albright set date

November 4 has been chosen by Miss Susan Anne Darg as the date for her marriage to James Edward Albright. The wedding will take place in La Purissima Catholic Church.

The couple's engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Darg, 228 North Z St. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Albright of Storrie.

A graduate of Lompoc High School class of 1971, the bride-elect attended Allan Hancock College for a year. She is presently employed at Lompoc Hospital. Her fiancé is currently in the armed services at Shaw Air Force Base, S.C. His term will be completed next March.

Robert Belluz takes Iowa bride

Newlyweds attend Iowa University

Students at Iowa State University at Ames are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anthony Belluz, nee Maria Linda Jones. The couple's marriage took place in St. Brendan's Catholic Church at Leon, Iowa.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jones of Murray (Iowa.) The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Hector Belluz, 1113 North A St., and the late Hector Belluz. He is a 1968 graduate of Lompoc High School.

Attending the wedding from Lompoc were his mother and brother Edward Belluz, the latter's wife and their daughter Michele, 1329 West Fir Ave. Traveling from Los Angeles for the occasion were his brother Paul and sister Miss Judith.

For her wedding the bride wore a traditional Spanish gown of peau de soie and imported hand-clipped Chantilly lace. Her lace mantilla, held by a pearl Juliet cap, formed a cathedral train of Chantilly rosepoint. At her neck she wore an opal birthstone pendant, gift of her groom, and an heirloom diamond and pearl lavalier worn by many brides in the bridegroom's family. Stephanotis, white Jack Frost roses, carnations and ivy fashioned her cascade bouquet.

Mrs. Cindy Lite of Philadelphia served as her sister's honor matron. Bridesmaids were Miss Janette McDowell, college room-mate, and Mrs. Mary Jones, her sister-in-law.

Edward Belluz was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Rick Howe, college roommate, and Gary Jones, brother of the bride. Paul Belluz was an usher.

Anniversary party fetes Don and Marian Howard

For Don and Marian Howard was the party hosted Sunday, Sept. 24 by Norm and Judy Kolish, 1512 East Cherry. The occasion celebrated the silver wedding anniversary of the honorees. Extending their congratulations were approximately 40 guests.

Residents of Lompoc the last 12 years, the Howards live at 1605 East Cherry. He has been employed by Federal Electric Corporation for 15. Mrs. Howard is currently in the LVN program at Allan Hancock College.

The couple has three daughters, Linda, 22, Gwyn, 18, Donna, 15. The older girls came from Los Angeles for the party. Also present was Charles Young, uncle of Mrs. Howard, who makes his home with them.

Unable to come were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Young of Flint, Mich., and Don's father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. John Howard, also of Michigan.

Born in Piggott, Arkansas, Don Howard exchanged marriage vows with Marian Young Sept. 20, 1947 in Flint.

On their anniversary, Mrs. Howard wore a white and gold lame pantsuit and gold shoes. She was presented with a yellow carnation corsage, her husband with a white carnation boutonniere.

Yellow and white streamers and white wedding bells decorated the dining room. Chrysanthemums and carnations fashioned the table centerpiece. Yellow and white icing roses and a silver and white decoration with doves topped the tiered wedding cake. Also served were chips and dips, sandwiches, and champagne punch.

Polly's pointers

Polly's pyroceramic problem is answered

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—My dishes and pyroceramics have black-gray marks caused by rubbing against pots and utensils in the dishwasher. I do hope some reader has suggestions as to how I can remove those marks. Scrubbing with a cleanser does not help.—MRS. L. J.

DEAR GIRLS—The following Pointer sent in by a reader might be an answer to Mrs. L. J.'s problem as it certainly cleaned up and whitened my coffee maker of the same type.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—To clean those difficult stains that often appear in a pyroceramic teapot I fill the pot with very hot water, add a generous amount of dishwashing liquid and some white vinegar. I never measure the vinegar but one or two tablespoons should do the job. Use baking soda to scour clean if the stains are scorched on.—MRS. J. L. H.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the people who design bathtubs. Only a man could make them so difficult. Instead of having the faucets at one end and the drain in the other the one who washes and scours the tub has to crawl back and forth carrying water to rinse it out after the tub had a thorough washing. This is really hard to do when you are 75.—EDITH

DEAR POLLY—My two pre-school boys cannot read so I have a set of pictures for our bulletin board. The boys can tell by a picture on the board where I am if they get up late or do not see me around. I hate the thought of a child not being able to find his mother. We have four such pictures as we live on a busy farm. One has garden vegetables and, when it is pinned to the board, they know I am in the garden. Another has a mailbox so they know I have gone down the long driveway to the box. One has a washing machine and clothes basket and another has ducks. One look tells where I am.—MARIA

DEAR POLLY—To make a great table centerpiece use that piece of driftwood you did not know what to do with. Simmer the wood about 30 minutes in one part bleach to three parts water. Let dry. Paint with clear lacquer and while this is drying paint small stones to look like bugs. Glue these to the wood with durable glue and let dry.—M. W.

Your birthday by Stella

MONDAY, OCTOBER 2 — Born today, you are an idealist by nature — so much so, in fact, that in you idealism could easily be transferred and translated into a religious bent. Indeed, it would not in the least be outside the realm of possibility were you to make service to religious ideals and institutions your career, for you are deeply spiritual along with everything else and could well find your niche among those for whom the spiritual life is not only pleasant but vital. Early training will have much to do with your decisions along these lines, of course.

Highly intellectual with a notion of service to your fellow man permanently etched into your thinking, you are not only an excellent scholar, you are also a sympathetic and effective teacher. You may well combine your three proclivities — for being teacher, scholar, and spiritual leader — into a single career. Should you do so, you would find life not only exciting and interesting but exceedingly happy. Joy — the prime goal of all men — would be yours for the asking.

Strange as it may seem, considering all your other traits, you have an excellent head for business and could well turn your talents to the money-making end of things. Logical, practical, and clearheaded, you are never overwhelmed by the difficulties involved in any given transaction; rather, you work quickly toward solutions that are both feasible and ultimately profitable.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Tuesday, October 3

LIBRA (Sept. 24 — Oct. 23) — Take comfort in what you have presently rather than complaining about what you lacked in the past or what you may lack in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 — Nov. 22) — The logical approach is the only one that can bring you even close to a solution to today's difficulties. Don't be surprised at another's suggestion.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 — Dec. 22) — Although others may accuse you of being too exacting a taskmaster, they will have to admit that your methods bring results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 — Jan. 20) — Don't be too sure that your present endeavor will prove to be a remunerative one. You may discover that you've been working for "charity".

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 — Feb. 19) — Though children may require correction, it may not be wise for you to be its administrator. Leave punishment to some who may be wiser.

PISCES (Feb. 20 — March 21) — Don't waste your time backtracking over old mistakes. Pick up your courage, hope, and ambition and being at once to move forward!

ARIES (March 22 — April 20) — Much may have been made over minor successes lately. Take care that you don't give in to the temptation to rest on your laurels.

TAURUS (April 21 — May 21) — There is much to be said for an apology. You may not feel the present situation is your fault — but if you take the blame you may do yourself a favor.

GEMINI (May 22 — June 21) — Several money-making possibilities present themselves for your consideration today. Don't allow confusion to cloud the situation at home.

CANCER (June 22 — July 23) — Forget what has gone before; now is the time to look ahead with great hope for the future. Work toward a new goal you've recently set yourself.

LEO (July 24 — Aug. 23) — Constructive criticism will help both the giver and the receiver. Make sure to approach another's work in the spirit of charity.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 — Sept. 23) — The timid Virgo may well forfeit a new friendship just now in the budding stage. Offer your hand to another who may himself be hesitant.

Oswald: "Here is a rather simple hand from Eric Jennersten's book. South finds himself in a reasonable five-club contract."

Jim: "The setup appears to be such that South will have to lay down his ace of clubs and pick up West's singleton king to make his contract. All else being equal, this represents a 13 per cent chance against a 50 per cent chance if the finesse is taken. But all else isn't equal."

Oswald: "No, indeed. East has passed his partner's opening spade bid and isn't going to have many high cards."

Jim: "South should look carefully at West's king of spades lead. If West also held the ace and king of hearts he would undoubtedly have preferred that lead to the spade. Hence, East is marked with either the ace or king of hearts."

Oswald: "It is most unlikely that East would pass with two kings in his hand. Thus, the second step in reasoning from the bidding is that East just can't have the king of clubs."

Jim: "This brings us to the ace of clubs play. West has the king. Our only chance to make the hand is to drop it."

Oswald: "South still needs a diamond finesse but that is surely going to work and is just routine."

Mission Hills News

By Kitty Schneider 3-4405

Boy Scouts of Troop 68 will be collecting aluminum cans from the residents of Mission Hills this Saturday, Sept. 30. According to Scoutmaster, William Farthing, proceeds will go towards the purchase of scouting equipment and to buy awards for the boys.

Niki Mees, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mees, 1538 Calle Portos, celebrated her 13th birthday by having a combination roller skating and slumber party with friends. After a dinner of homemade pizza, followed by cake and ice cream, the group traveled to Santa Maria where they skated at Roller Fair. Guests included Kimberly Clark, Catherine Aguayo, Melissa Grisco, and Teresa Gregory. Neighbor Russell Brown accompanied the girls to the roller rink. Also present to wish Niki a happy birthday were her parents, sister Cathy 19, and brother Randy 14. Coming for the festivities, and to spend the weekend were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Mees, Sr. Atascadero.

A special get acquainted party was held at the home of Mrs. Dan (Judy) Paulsen, 3437 Via Barba, for Mrs. Steve (Cindy) Hoard. Mr. and Mrs. Hoard and their two children will be living at the above address, as the Paulsens leave for San Jose.

Coming to meet the guest of honor and to say good-bye to Judy were Betty Lechner, Maxine Jamison, Kitty Schneider, Sid and Louise Lawrence, Fran Rockvam, Irene Vance and Suzy Anderson. After Judy introduced each guest with brief descriptions of families and interests, the guests got acquainted with Cindy while coffee and cake were served. Surprisingly, Betty Lechner and Fran Rockvam met for the first time that night, after living three doors apart for about 12 years.

Judy and Dan Paulsen and children Gil and Kelley leave this week for San Jose, following Dan's transfer to Lockheed in Redwood City. Thirteen-year residents of Mission Hills, the Paulsens have been active in various community and civic affairs. Besides working as a missile test mechanic for Lockheed at Vandenberg, Dan has been coach with Village Hills Little League for the past 5 years and the Lions Youth football team coach. His wife Judy who was the newly elected president of Lompoc Jr. High P.T.A., has served as president of Los Berros Elementary School P.T.A. for the past two years. Besides serving as Little League Board treasurer, she has helped as surer mother. A former Mission Hills News writer, Judy was most recently employed by Security Pacific National Bank. While in Lompoc, Judy starred in productions at the Valley Playhouse and served as president of Lockheed Wives Club. Says Judy, "Everybody's nice and I'm going to miss Lompoc."

A slumber party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lee, 3478 Via Arnez, honored daughter Pam and Susan Walker as both celebrated their 13th birthdays recently. Guests included Debbie Lester, Beth Wright, Lorri Scott, Teresa Zumstein, Cindy Grasser, Kayln Frank and Catherine Aguayo. Refreshments of cake, ice cream and punch were served. A game called "pass the toothpick, and a banana eating contest using no hands provided fun for the girls. Prizes were awarded to Kayln Frank and Beth Wright.

Jet crashes, only nine injured

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A United Airlines jetliner returning to San Francisco when a trouble light blinked on Sunday veered off a runway and hit a radar beacon when its landing gear collapsed. Nine of the 95 persons aboard received minor injuries.

The Boeing 727 was evacuated within 40 seconds of coming to a stop and left a trail of debris littering the field. The airport was closed for about 90 minutes, with some incoming flights diverted to Oakland airport across San Francisco Bay.

"I was surprised to find the aircraft was so demolished," said one woman passenger who said she wasn't scared because the crew "were so calm and cool."

"You knew it was an abnormal landing...you felt yourself going off the runway," said Connie Mayer, a stewardess, one of the seven crewmembers aboard the Los Angeles-bound flight.

"I started yelling 'get your heads down.' When we landed, the girls started yelling 'come this way.'" One exit was blocked by the radar beacon.

Kyras Stinson, a passenger on the plane, said the 88 passengers were instructed to grab their ankles and put their heads down into their laps as the plane came into land.

The pilot, who declined to give his name, described the evacuation as "normal emergency procedures that everyone is trained for."

Nine persons were taken to the hospital, but all were released within a few hours.

The incident began when a light went on in the cockpit warning of overheating in one of the cargo pits when the plane was about 30 minutes out of San Francisco.

A United spokesman said the reason for the light going on and the collapse of the right landing gear was not yet known.

Federal investigators and airline specialists were on the scene shortly after the accident, which, the spokesman said, did not appear to have caused serious damage to the plane.

Bicycle safety program

Lompoc Police Department in cooperation with the Jaycees and the Automobile Club of Southern California will conduct a bicycle safety campaign in seven elementary schools.

Here is the schedule at the various schools: Haggood, tomorrow, 9 a.m.; Fillmore, tomorrow, 1 p.m.; La Honda, Wednesday, 9 a.m.; El Camino, Wednesday, 1 p.m.; Miguelito, Thursday, 9:30 a.m.; La Canada, Thursday, 1 p.m.; La Purisima, Friday, 9 a.m.

The program includes briefing on bicycle riding laws, mechanical inspection; riding skill test.

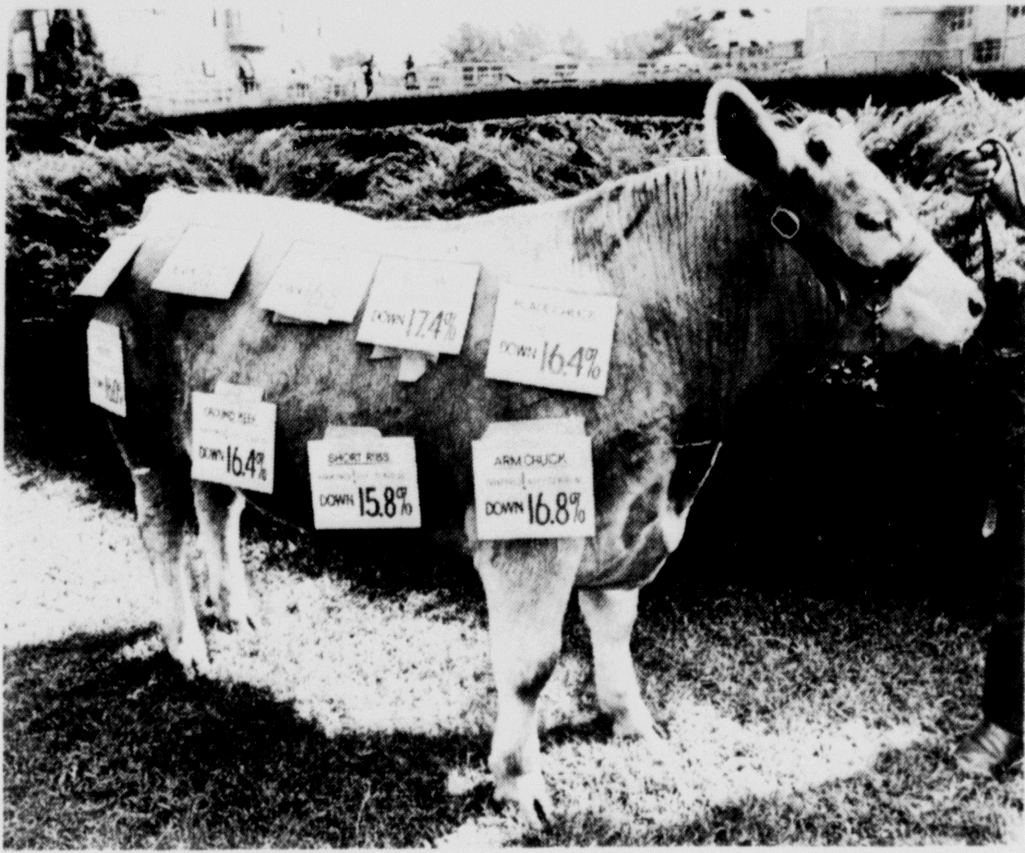

Parents who wish their children to participate should have them bring their bicycles on the day scheduled for their particular school.

Business note

Sally's Charm and Modeling School will hold its 25th Basic Class graduation Tuesday, at 7 p.m. Commencement will be at the store, 719 North H St., including a fashion show.

Friends and families are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

The graduates are Dawn Sewel, Patricia Anglin, Janet Hix, Ginger Weaver, Debbie Weaver, Rosemarie Bong, Bonnie Wright and De Anne Buffington.

More trouble in the county marshal's office

The embattled marshal's office in the Santa Barbara-Goleta Judicial District was the center of still another controversy today — and it may take another Superior Court ruling to settle it.

The current flareup — on the heels of a number of firings of both men and women staffers who have failed to see eye to eye with outgoing marshal Patrick O'Brien — has resulted from, of all things, the wearing of campaign buttons in O'Brien's office in Santa Barbara.

Marshal's office employees who are supporting the bid of Robert S. Lopez, former chief deputy in O'Brien's office, for the marshal's position in the November election, have complained to county officials they are being warned not to wear such buttons.

The pro-Lopez element have complained to the county counsel's office they feel entitled to do so as long as others in the office wear campaign buttons on behalf of Lopez' rival — former Santa Barbara Police Sgt. Mike Devaney, who has O'Brien's support.

O'Brien fired Lopez earlier this year after the latter had spent more than 12 years as chief deputy. Lopez promptly filed for the job to succeed O'Brien, who meanwhile lost out in court when the County Employees Assn. succeeded in having him barred from seeking reelection.

Disease: $100,000 paid for fighting cocks

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — A bird in the hand of a Southern Californian might be worth, say...

—$1.50 if it's an ordinary chicken.

—$5 if it's a fat hen that lays a lot of eggs.

—$25 for a highly trained—but illegal—fighting cock.

—$2,000 for a roller skating cockatoo, with a career in show business to think of.

For the men of a joint federal-state task force assigned the job of killing millions of birds in a seven-county region of Southern California, the problem of fixing a price is a serious one.

The birds—more than three million so far with at least three million more destined to go soon—are being killed in an effort to halt an epidemic of Newcastle Disease, highly contagious among fowl but harmless to humans.

Virtually no feathered creature is immune, it seems. Tens of thousands of chickens are gassed en masse at poultry farms, pet stores are emptied of their exotic fare and until recently, motorists leaving the quarantine area gave up their pet birds to be gassed at highway stations. Now the pets are taken to central locations to be exterminated.

Among the hundreds of workers in the Newcastle Task Force are a group of bird appraisers. Occasionally, they make a deal like the cockatoo valued at $3,000. They paid its owner only $2,000.

But more often, apparently they don't. An investigative report published in Sunday's editions of the Riverside Press Enterprise indicated that as much as $100,000 in public funds has been paid to owners of illegal fighting

Prison report from Hoffa

NEW YORK (UPI)—Forty-five per cent of the inmates in the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa. are homosexuals, according to former Teamster leader James Hoffa, who spent nearly five years in the correctional facility.

"It is a terrible problem. It creates stabbings, fights, riots," Hoffa said Sunday.

He was interviewed on William F. Buckley Jr.'s Public Broadcasting Service television show "Firing Line."

"And they (guards) condone it in prison," Hoffa said, "allowing any two people that want to live together, move into a common joint cell. And they think it's cute to have them walking up and down, swishing around, holding hands. So they can make remarks about it."

Hoffa was paroled by an executive order from President Nixon after serving 58 months on his conviction of fraud involving union funds and attempting to bribe a juror.

House to act on bill to stop unauthorized trips

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House moved today toward a showdown vote on a bill to prohibit U.S. citizens from making unauthorized trips to North Vietnam amid protests the bill would jeopardize prisoner of war releases by Hanoi.

Supporters of the measure claimed it was needed to curtail travel by antiwar activists, such as actress Jane Fonda, to Hanoi where they interfere with official efforts to win release of POWs and to settle the war.

But the Democratic Study Group (DSG) said in a letter to liberal House members that the bill was approved by the House Internal Security Committee without adequate congressional review.

The measure "puts harsh restraint on the right to travel without providing the substantive and procedural due process required by the Constitution," according to the DSG letter signed by Reps. Don Edwards and Phillip Burton of California and Rep. Robert F. Drinan of Massachusetts.

Under the bill, U.S. citizens—including reporters—cannot travel to nations in armed conflict with the United States unless authorized by the President after a determination of whether the trip was in the national interest.

Some opponents fear only those who support administration policy on Vietnam could be cleared for travel to Hanoi, thus curtailing efforts to shuttle mail to and from the POWs and preventing release of prisoners to antiwar spokesmen.

The bill provides that violators would be subject to 10 years in prison, $10,000 fine, or both.

Congressman says lure scheme 'won't work'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A key southern lawmaker today discounted a Republican scheme to lure enough conservative Democrats across the aisle in the 93rd Congress to assure GOP control of the House.

"It won't work," said Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Tex., who is chairman of an informal caucus of southern Democrats. He said he was aware of the GOP plan and that he himself was approached at one time.

"I passed it off as sort of a joke," he reported. Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., in a UPI Washington Window interview, said Sunday Republicans believe they may win control of the House in November if President Nixon wins with 57 or 58 per cent of the vote.

But if they fall short by eight or 10 seats, Wilson said, enough Democrats may defect to give the GOP control of the House for the first time since the 83rd Congress.

Wilson, chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, said prospective switchers already are being assured they can cross the aisle with their seniority unimpaired. "I'm sure we could guarantee that," Wilson said.

Burleson said this kind of party-jumping had been discussed before but that practical and other difficulties preclude it.

For one thing, southerners enjoy many chairmanships and other positions of power that would be lost if Congress were under GOP control. Even southern members at the bottom of the seniority heap presumably would be reluctant to vote their seniors out of power.

Wilson said such considerations would not necessarily block party switching.

"It's an individual survival problem with most of them," he said. "They're seeing what's happening in the primaries (where a number of Democrats have failed to win renomination)...That's what politics is all about—the party's fine but my own situation is most important."

Currently Democrats control the House, 254 to 177, with four vacancies. A majority of 218 is needed for control.

China celebrates 23rd birthday

HONG KONG (UPI)—China celebrated its 23rd birthday Sunday in an atmosphere of gaiety, with official emphasis on recent gains on the diplomatic front.

Thousands of Chinese turned out to attend festivities throughout Peking. Gala parties were held in the Summer Palace, the Working People's Palace of Culture and four other public parks.

The official New China News Agency (NCNA) reported that the Chinese capital exuded with a jubilant atmosphere of unity for victory "of China's new achievement in socialist revolution and construction and on the diplomatic front."

NFL unbeatens bite the dust—except for Miami

UPI Sports Writer
And now there is only one.
Six teams entered Sunday's National Football League action undefeated and when all the passing, running, kicking and fumbling was over, only one remained—but just barely.
The Miami Dolphins are the only unbeaten team in the NFL after Bob Griese threw a three-yard touchdown pass to reserve tight end Jim Mandich with 1:28 remaining Sunday for a 16-14 victory over the Minnesota Vikings.
The Dolphins rallied from a 14-6 deficit in the final period on Garo Yepremian's 51-yard field goal, his third of the game, and Griese's TD pass. But the biggest play involved a Minnesota player, sub defensive tackle Bob Lurtsema, who incurred a 15-yard penalty for roughing the passer when the Vikings apparently had stopped Miami's final drive.

Minnesota led 14-10 when Griese's pass intended for Paul Warfield nearly was intercepted by Bobby Bryant on a second-and-eight situation but Lurtsema was flagged for hauling down Griese after the pass.
Mercury Morris then circled left end for 14 yards, Griese hit Howard Twilley on passes of three and 17 yards to put the ball on the Vikings' three and then he flipped to Mandich for the winning TD.
Lloyd Mumphord intercepted a Fran Tarkenton pass on the Dolphins' 31 to seal the victory. Tarkenton earlier had a 56-yard TD pass to John Gilliam and Bill Brown plunged a yard for the other Viking score.

Miami's victory gave the Dolphins undisputed possession of first place in the American Conference East since the Houston Oilers knocked off the previously unbeaten New York Jets, 26-20. Green Bay dumped Dallas, 16-13, Cleveland clubbed Cincinnati, 27-6, New England stunned Washington, 24-23, and Atlanta crushed Los Angeles, 31-3, to take care of the remaining unbeatens.
Elsewhere, Kansas City ripped Denver, 45-24, San Francisco clobbered New Orleans, 37-2, Detroit bombed Chicago, 38-24, Baltimore blanked Buffalo, 17-0, Pittsburgh downed St. Louis, 25-19, and Oakland tied San Diego, 17-17. The New York Giants are at Philadelphia tonight.

Dan Pastorini led Houston to two first half TDs and the Oilers converted Jet miscues into four field goals by Skip Butler in the second half to upset heavily-favored New York.
Chester Marcol's three field goals lifted Green Bay over Dallas and snapped the Cowboys' unbeaten string at 12 games.
Leroy Kelly ran for one TD and Mike Phipps passed 68 yards to Frank Pitts for another as Cleveland stunned Cincinnati and former coach Paul Brown.
Jim Plunkett threw a 24-yard TD pass to rookie Josh Ashton with 4:12 remaining for the winning score and Curt Knight missed two short field goals in the last minute and a half. Knight did connect on a field goal that would have tied the score at 24-24 but the Redskins took a roughing-the-kicker penalty instead and were unable to move. A safety accounted for Washington's final two points.

Dave Hampton and Art Malone rushed for 264 yards as the Falcons beat Los Angeles for the first time. Hampton had a 56-yard TD run, Bob Berry threw 38 yards to Ken Burrow for another score and Tommy Nobis returned an interception 29 yards for a third TD to highlight the rout.
Mike Livingston, subbing for the injured Len Dawson, threw three TD passes in the second half to lead the Chiefs over Denver and John Brodie's two TD passes sparked San Francisco over the Saints.

Quarterback Greg Landry ran for three scores as the Lions whipped Chicago and John Unitas passed for one score and set up Sam Havrilak's run for another as Baltimore shut out the Bills for the third straight time.
Terry Bradshaw's 38-yard TD pass to Frank Lewis with 66 seconds left boosted Pittsburgh over the Cardinals.
George Blanda's 40-yard field goal with less than five minutes left gave Oakland a tie with San Diego. Blanda, however, missed a 37-yarder with a minute left.

Garife, Gray, Gordon

Valley G-boys star in Hancock victory

By Gary D. Smith
Quarterback Rollie Garife ran for two touchdowns, Johnny Gray turned an interception into another score and Cecil Gordon scampered for the game's final tally as the Allan Hancock College Bulldogs made a successful debut into the Western State Conference by dumping previously unbeaten Glendale City College, 28-12, before a shirt-sleeved crowd in Glendale Saturday night.
Local football fans, braving a long road-trip to smoggy Los Angeles and basting under a warm, balmy sky in the Glendale High School stadium, had a lot to cheer about as they watched the undefeated Bulldogs capitalize on Glendale's miscues and turnovers to take the third straight meeting between these two clubs. Hancock won the 1970 contest, 18-6, and went on to post a 20-8 victory last year.
Ironically, the Bulldogs offensive unit still hadn't touched the pigskin when Hancock suddenly found itself ahead 7-0 as the result of Gray's interception and 49-yard return.
Gray, a Lompoc High product, picked off Dan Flavin's misguided aerial from his cornerback position at the Glendale 49-yard line, cut to his right and raced down the sideline to the end zone. Rick Mesa booted the extra point and the Bulldogs had a 7-0 lead with less than three minutes elapsed in the game.
The Bulldogs defense, led by John Rozek, Ken Hartman, Bill Pierce, Brad Johnson and Bob Bazan consistently came up with the big plays to squelch any serious attack the Vaqueros could muster during the remainder of the first quarter.
Johnson set up Hancock's second touchdown by recovering a Vaqueros fumble on the Glendale 43-yard stripe. Garife, still recovering from a bout with the flu earlier in the week, took over the reins from starting signal-caller Mesa and directed the Bulldogs to paydirt in five plays. Garife hit Dan Dowd on passes of 13 and 12 yards, then lugged the ball himself on three straight downs, with the score coming on a quarterback sneak from one-foot out. Mesa's PAT made it 14-0.

In the next six minutes, Glendale twice penetrated deep into Hancock territory but an inspired Hancock defense again rose to the occasion. The Bulldogs front foursome held on downs once and Mike Moore recovered a Vaqueros fumble at the Bulldogs 19-yard line to halt the other threat.
Another Glendale fumble, recovered by Gary Cox on the Vaqueros 30-yard line, set up the Bulldogs third tally. Gordon ran a delay to the 15. Garife moved the ball to the 6-yard line on a keeper, and two plays later he plunged across the goal with 55 seconds left in the half. Mesa converted to give the Bulldogs a 21-0 halftime lead.
Whereas the first 30 minutes belonged almost entirely to Hancock, the Vaqueros dominated play during the second half as their highly touted running back Rich Madrid finally found some running room.
Glendale's first score came in the opening minutes of the last period on a 10-yard pass from Flavin to Joe Paneno. A two-point conversion attempt failed.
With less than three minutes remaining, Flavin found Jerry Larsen on an 8-yard TD toss to close the gap to 21-12. A two-point conversion pass attempt from Flavin to Larsen was batted down in a brilliant defensive maneuver by Johnson.
Gordon, who had trouble running against the big Vaqueres line all evening, finally broke into the scoring column with just 39 seconds remaining in the game when he took Garife's handoff, cut outside off right tackle and scampered 29 yards for the insurance touchdown. The point-after by Mesa was true to its mark and the Bulldogs had won their second outing of the 1972 campaign.

Hill polomen take 3rd

Gaining momentum for their season opener in Santa Maria Thursday, Hill water polomen captured third in the annual Buena High School Tournament over the weekend, dropping a 7-2 decision to second placer San Marcos and dunking Santa Maria 6-4 and Beverley Hills 7-4.
Gary Anderson and Mike Rich gave the hillmen an early 2-0 lead against the Saints in the first contest. Anderson rifled in another and deep Conq goalie Chuck Younglove dove for a spectacular save before the half. All tourney nominee Jeff Heidmous scored twice and Anderson scored again in the last frames.
With an eye wound, Conq starter Gary McManus was at less than full strength against San Marcos in their second game and when starters Mike Rich and Lynn Shoults fouled out in the first half, Cabrillo was in trouble. Heidmous scored two in the second but the San Marcans shot in three. Anderson and replacement Rich Cochran scored from the field in the second half but the Royal lead stood as the San Marcans traded second half goals with the Hillmen.

Back in action for the third contest, McManus pocketed two early goals on Anderson assists to leap in front of Beverley Hills. A Jeff Heidmous penalty shot and two Hills shots in frame number two left it at 3-2 Hill at the half. John Beaudry and Heidmous powered in goals in the third and Anderson picked up two more in the last frame.

HILL HALFBACK Tom Wittman, the goat then the hero of Cabrillo's 29-28 win over Dos Pueblos Saturday night, carries here for a good gain in Cabrillo's season opener last week against Bakersfield.

Conqs survive aerial blitz

By STEVE LA RUE
Cabrillo made it 2-0 Saturday night in a 29-28 squeaker over Dos Pueblos which, as head coach Evert Jones had predicted, was far too interesting for the Hillmen.
The bare point difference was carried into the books by halfback Tom Wittmann in a leftside pitchout two-point conversion that Charger defenders had pegged for a line buck.
It happened with 6:55 left in the game, about seven minutes after Wittmann had been hit on his own twenty, parting with the ball and setting up a Dos Pueblos go-ahead touchdown two plays later.
The Chargers still had plenty of time to win after the Conqs' paying gamble and muffed a late field goal attempt from the nine. Receiving a short Conq punt, the Pueblans had the last two minutes of the game to march goalward from their own 43. They had scored in three of four drives in the second half, but as the game ticked off, defenders Howard Comstock, Bruce Probst, Pete Guariglia and Ken Wahl bore down on the DP pass protection as Steve Klitz, Bill Champin, Kevin Drake buttressed the Hill secondary.
At fourth - and-10, the Pueblans completed yet another pass but Klitz plugged receiver Steve Aguilar where he caught it, three yards from the first down. With 48 seconds remaining the Chargers were through.

The contest was a primer on the air attack vs the grinding ground game. With superb protection, third-year starting quarterback and mad bomber Greg Van Ness took to the air on his third play from scrimmage, hitting a receiver between protectors Wahl and Klitz 40 yards away to sting Cabrillo for seven points.
The Conqs fizzled on their next drive but Probst and Wahl mangled the following Charger ground attempt and Quarterback Kevin Drake then pitched and handed off Cabrillo onto the scoreboard, on five plays. Allison Driesbach broke a tackle on the five in the scoring 11-yard run through the middle.
The Conqs then made some luck for themselves when, in the second frame with a ground drive stalled at their 37, Charger deep men called for a fair catch and bobbled the ball into the arms of Comstock.
One quarterback keeper, a handoff and a nine yard pass to halfback Tim Davis, a seven-yard Driesbach rush and a Comstock PAT later the Conqs led 14-7.
The last two DP drives of the half were stopped by Klitz with a rare picked-off Van Ness pass, and by linemen Guaraglia and Russ Wardrip with an even rarer dumping of Van Ness way behind the line.
Klitz opened the Cabrillo second half intercepting a Van Ness pass on the DP 35 on the first play from scrimmage and weaving it down to the DP 11. Several Driesbach and Wittmann bucks later, Drake sneaked it over and the Conqs were fat at 21-7.
But with the Chargers back in possession, Van Ness hit the air game even harder and unveiled another devastating weapon, the delay. With almost impregnable pass protection and four receivers downfield, Van Ness handed off to halfback Aguilar for 33 yards in his first drive and played this threat off against flawless passing.
The Chargers scored in 10 plays from their 33, (36 yards in passes) to make it 21-14, bogged down another Conq ground drive and after a short Cabrillo punt, scored again in 10 plays (32 yards passing) from the Conq 46 to tie it.
Cabrillo went behind by 7 when Wittmann fumbled a play later.

Series will decide AL East title

Sox, Tigers: best of three

United Press International
Say a word for the American League schedule makers—and another for Bowie Kuhn and Marvin Miller.
The season has come down to winning two of the next three games for Boston and Detroit, which meet head on at Tiger Stadium tonight, Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon—certainly a schedule maker's dream.
But remember, too, what Commissioner Kuhn and player representative Miller did last spring when the national game was mired in its first baseball strike. They, the owners and the players, desperate to get on with the season, decided to cancel all games up to the point of the settlement and have the teams play uneven schedules.
That decision may now cost Boston the AL East pennant.
Should the Red Sox win only one of its three games against the Tigers, both clubs will finish with 70 losses. But because Detroit will have played one more game than Boston the Tigers, with a half-game advantage in the win column, will go into the playoffs against West Division champion Oakland. Only a sweep by the Tigers can allay the notion that an even schedule would have meant a pennant tie, if not a Boston pennant.
Baltimore is out of the race but the Orioles were very much part of it Sunday as they defeated the Red Sox 2-1 behind Bobby Grich's 12th home run of the year, Mike Cuellar's 18th victory and sterling defensive play by Brooks Robinson.
With the bases loaded and two out in the sixth inning,

Dwight Evans sent a shot to the hole between shortstop and third base. Robinson, the perennial All-Star third baseman, speared the ball and threw Evans out.
The Tigers knew they had their backs to the wall and produced three crucial victories against the Milwaukee Brewers. Manager Billy Martin's team completed the sweep Sunday with a 5-1 triumph over Milwaukee, behind the five-hit pitching of John Hiller (1-2), who suffered a heart attack Jan. 11 and had been a forgotten figure in the Tigers pitching rotation this year.
In other AL games Sunday, Cleveland beat New York twice, 2-1 and 4-3, Texas edged Chicago and unlucky Wilbur Wood, 1-0, Oakland beat Kansas City, 4-2, and Minnesota nipped California, 3-2.
Cleveland took advantage of two errors by catcher John Ellis to score two unearned runs in the sixth inning of the second game Sunday to complete the doubleheader sweep after Gaylord Perry (24-16) hurled a four-hitter in the opener.
Pinch-hitter Gonzalo Marquez singled in the tie-breaking run in the eighth inning to lift Oakland to victory over Kansas City.
Dick Bosman's three-hit shutout posted Texas to victory over Chicago, breaking the Rangers' losing streak at 15 games. Bosman, 8-10, struck out 13, the highest for a Rangers pitcher this year and allowed only one runner to reach second base. Texas scored in the first off Wood, 24-17 when Dave Nelson walked, stole second and scored on a single by Ted Ford.

Bolt wins 5th Seniors

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— Tommy Bolt reaped the rewards of being over 50 years of age for the fifth time Sunday as he scored an unprecedented fifth straight victory in the U.S. National Seniors Open Golf championship.

But Bolt had to come from behind on the final round with a five under par 65 to score a one-stroke victory. The onetime fiery-tempered Bolt had a 72-hole total of 274, eight under par.

By shooting 33-32—65 over the Tropicana Country Club course, Bolt just edged J.D. Taylor, the third round leader. Taylor carded 32-36—68 for 275.

Bolt sank a five-foot birdie putt on the 72nd hole while Taylor missed a birdie by inches.

Taylor, from Denver, bogeyed the 14th and 15th holes. That allowed Bolt to draw even after he sank a birdie on the 10th hole.

Bolt had rounds of 69-70-70 prior to the final round while Taylor took his lead on scores of 70-68-69. First money from the purse of $75,000 was $7,500 while Taylor earned $4,500.

The first two rounds were played on the par 71 Winterwood and LAS Vegas Country Club courses.

United Press International Clay Carroll succeeded where Don Gullett failed. Carroll managed to set a new major league record for saves Sunday afternoon when he relieved Gullett in the ninth inning and preserved Cincinnati's 1-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Gullett missed his opportunity to get his name into the record books when Bill Russell lined a one-out single to left in the eighth inning to break up his bid for a no-hitter. Buckner added another Dodger hit in the ninth inning when he singled off Carroll. Carroll relieved Gullett, making his first start after a two-month battle with hepatitis, in the ninth and blanked the Dodgers in the final frame to record his 36th save of the season. The

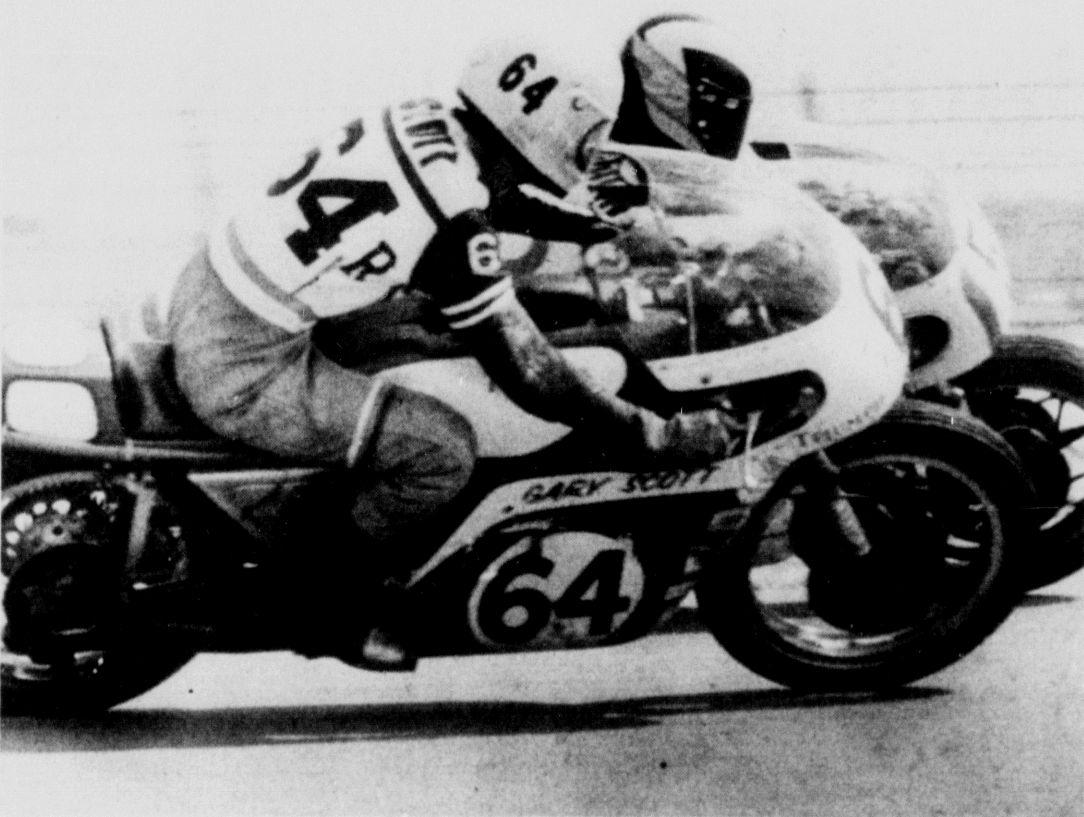

Conqs drop CC battle

The Dos Pueblos High cross country runners squeaked to a one-point win over Cabrillo Friday in a dual non-league match. Marshall Frasher paced the field, taking first in 10:37. Conq Greg Axline took second in 10:42, but the host Chargers took the next four places and the win. Hill runner Gary Manus was seventh (11:00), followed by Bob Mulholland (00:08), Bob Zorich (11:09), and Torre Delgado (11:18). First place in the JV run was captured by Conq Kevin Stingley in 11:24.

Donohue wins CanAm race

United Press International Mark Donohue's recovery meant a very serious setback to Team McLaren Sunday when the veteran from Newton Square, Pa., won the $75,000 Canadian-American Challenge Cup series event at Edmonton International Raceway. Donohue, who injured his left leg back in June while making practice runs for the Road Atlanta event, won his first Can-Am race this season for the Roger Penske group and set a track record in the process. Donohue guided his turbocharged Porsche 917-10 to an average speed of 109.87 miles an hour as he covered the 200 mile, 80-lap course in one hour, 50 minutes and 26.091 seconds to better Denis Hulme's previous best of 105.84 m.p.h. The win, coming in the seventh of nine Can-Am races this year, put a serious crimp in Team McLaren's ability to continue a dominance of the series that extends back to 1966, its inaugural year. Hulme, who had a streak of five straight wins at Edmonton, finished second in his McLaren M20 while Peter Revson—the other Team McLaren representative and the defending series driving champion—could manage no better than sixth.

Smart wins at Ontario

By Jane Daly An English driver once again took laurels at the second annual Champion Spark Plug Classic Sunday at Ontario Motor Speedway. London's Paul Smart, driving a factory Kawasaki, claimed an easy victory in the second 125 mile heat after placing fifth in the first heat. The two finishes actually tied him with New Zealand rider Geof Perry who had taken a fourth in the first heat and a second in the second heat, but according to AMA rules, the overall winner is determined by the best performance in the final heat. Smart collected the largest payoff in cycle racing, a total of $30,400 including a $15,000 bonus put up by Kawasaki. Last years winner John Cooper finished 5th overall but it was a long day for area favorite Gene Romero of San Luis Obispo. Romero, starting in the second row in the first heat, collided with another rider early in the event and fell, dropping the popular Triumph rider far behind. The second heat was just as disastrous as he spent many laps in the pits while his crew changed an ignition system. Perhaps the most memorable rider was that of Yvon DuHamel of Canada who charged from 53rd starting position to the lead in 16 laps. After returning to the course after a fuel stop, DuHamel collided with a slower rider and dropped him from contention. In the second heat, he was never a serious contender.

Sports notes

Bad day for Wagner

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Former Los Angeles Angels slugger Leon Wagner was pistol whipped and his wife shot Sunday during a robbery at a neighbor's apartment, police said. Investigators said two men burst into an apartment, firing a series of warning shots with a pistol and ordering the five occupants, including Wagner, to turn over their wallets and jewelry. While one of the bandits searched the residence, the other held the five at bay. Wagner was then told to call his wife from an adjacent apartment and he complied. As the woman started to walk down the hall, Wagner jumped one of the robbers and was beaten. The other robber stepped outside and shot Wagner's wife in the back. The two gunmen then fired at Wagner as he fled out the door, but he was not hit. Wagner and two of the other victims were treated for cuts and bruises and Mrs. Wagner was listed in satisfactory condition.

Beaman wins Quad Cities

BETTENDORF, Iowa (UPI) —Deane Beaman, who said he's been "playing well enough to win," fired a 4-under par 67 Sunday to win the $100,000 Quad Cities Open. Beaman, who began the day four strokes off the lead, won the same event last year when it was a satellite stop on the tour. He finished with a 72-hole total of 279, one stroke ahead of Tom Watson, who rallied to a 67. Don Iverson had a 73 to finish third and Lanny Wadkins with a 72 finished fourth. One stroke behind were bunched Grier Jones, Bob Wynn Doug Olson and Gibby Gilbert. It was Beaman's third major tournament victory and the first since winning the 1970 Milwaukee Open. The $20,000 first-place money ran his season's earnings to $87,428.

Newcombe whips Drysdale

ALAMO (UPI) —John Newcombe of Australia increased his tour earnings to $78,000 Sunday as he defeated Cliff Drysdale of South Africa 6-1, 6-1, 7-5, in the singles finals of the Redwood Bank International Open Tennis Tournament. "I can't play much better than I did in the first two sets," Newcombe said after he won $10,000 for the tournament. He took the sets with errorless ease but Drysdale, who won $5,000 for second place, didn't see. "I really didn't notice if Newcombe was playing that well," he said. "When you're playing as dismally as I was, you concentrate on your o. game."

Connors downs Tanner

ALBANY (UPI) — Jimmy Connors liked Sunday's 6-2, 7-6 win over Roscoe Tanner much better than when he beat him last June in college play. "In this, I got paid," the 20-year-old ex-UCLA star said as he received the $8,000 championship prize for the Golden Gate Pacific Coast Tennis Classic. Connors, a college dropout like his former Stanford opponent, managed to handle Tanner's booming serves with pinpoint returns. Tanner is one of the strongest servers in the game and acquired nine service aces in Sunday's match against his old college opponent.

Distance runner dies

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Larry Vollmer, 31, of Eugene, collapsed and died Sunday morning after finishing a half-marathon (13 miles) here in a race sponsored by the Oregon Track Club.

Lompoc judo dojo at Gardena tourney

A team of nine young Judoists from the Lompoc American Legion Judo Dojo, ranging from 8 to 10 years-old, traveled to Venice High School in L.A. Sunday to compete in the 1972 Fall Southern Pacific Junior Olympic Development Judo Championships. For one of the first times this year they were forced to come home empty-handed.

However, in only their second tast of Olympic style competition, the local boys posted a team total of 9 wins. The leaders for the locals in their respective divisions were Jimmy Johnston (9 yr. Lightweight), Michael Barnes (9 yr. Heavyweight), and Darryl Barnes (10 yr. lightweight), with two wins apiece.

Also contributing to the team score with one win apiece were Michio Emerson (age 8), Kip Sharpe (age 9), and Barney Foster (Age 9). Almost 400 of the best young Judoists in Southern California were competing. Also competing for the local club were Eddie Baldiviez Jr., Roger Baldiviez, and Mike Rivera. The Lompoc teams next competition will be the Northern Nanka Regional

Lompoc motomen flourish

The Lompoc Slow Pokes flourished at Spillway Park yesterday in another weekend motocross event. Linda Hale took an easy powder puff victory away from the competition and Gary Concellos roared to an unquestioned 100 cc overall victory.

After some trouble in his first moto, Vince Clark came back to take the last two 125 cc class heats to take that overall first place brass.

Jay Getchel got bad starts in each moto behind Bill Czerwinski, but the two Lompocans battled it out and Getchel came across with the 125 cc second place title. Czerwinski was shunted into 11th place after two other riders decided to use his back for traction. Young Lompocan Steve Bargiacchi crossed first in that heat on his Husky.

In the 250cc class, Dave Czerwinski earned a second place statue after a track mishap. Steve Delaire's rest must have done him some good as he took a second in the 250 juniors.

The Beardsley boys, Ron and Mike, each brought home a fourth in different 250cc junior class races.

Starting well but getting worn down, Scott Frisby raced his CZ to a second overall in Open Intermediate behind a Fresno competitor. A similar battle in the open seniors gave Chuck Czerwinski third overall.

Invitational Tournament in Santa Maria on Oct. 15.

Anyone interested in the Lompoc Judo program is invited to contact Harlan Emerson (RE 4-1208) or Ron Johnston (RE6-1732) or observe a practice session in the Dojo just West of the American Legion Memorial Building at "H" St. and Locust any Tuesday or Thursday between 6:30 and 8 p.m.

THINK ABOUT IT!

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF SANTA BARBARA No. SM11542

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

In the Matter of VENESSA ERIKA CONNOLLY and CORINNE FELICIA CONNOLLY, For Change of Name.

WHEREAS, BIRGIT E. BLISCHKE, petitioner, as the mother of said applicants, VENESSA ERIKA CONNOLLY and CORINNE FELICIA CONNOLLY, both under 21 years of age, has filed an application with the Clerk of this Court for an order changing applicants names from: VENESSA ERIKA BLISCHKE and CORINNE FELICIA CONNOLLY to CORINNE FELICIA BLISCHKE

IT IS ORDERED that all persons interested in the above-entitled matter appear before this Court at 9 o'clock a.m. on October 13, 1972, in the Courtroom of Department No. SM Two, at 312 East Cook Street, Santa Maria, California, and show cause, if any, why the application for change of name should not be granted.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this order to show cause be published in Lompoc Record, a newspaper of general circulation printed in the County of Santa Barbara, California, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the date set for hearing the application.

SWEDISH ACTOR SVEN-BERTIL TAUBE flashed before American audiences for the first time in "Puppet on a Chain." A year of school in Darien, Conn., as a teen-ager helped hone his English for the role of an American agent in the spy movie.

The lighter side

BY DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —According to the new political polls released this week, George McGovern is gaining on President Nixon while falling farther behind.

By picking up six points in one poll and losing 11 points in another, McGovern maintained the momentum that has kept his campaign at a standstill.

This is significant.

For it tends to corroborate other evidence that the country is moving forwards and backwards simultaneously.

On the economic front, prices rise as the rate of inflation decreases. The crime rate drops although the number of crimes increases.

The population grows ever larger as the birth rate declines. And now the two-way movement is seen in politics. A word of caution, however.

Although the indication that Nixon's lead is both expanding and contracting fits in with what is happening in other fields, bear in mind that the polls in and of themselves are meaningless.

It all depends on how they are interpreted.

Last week, for example, opinion researcher Albert E. Sindlinger told a House subcommittee that when Nixon widens his lead it means McGovern's prospects are improving.

He explained that an overwhelming Nixon lead would result in a relatively small election day turnout and cause Democrats who might otherwise split their ballots to vote a straight party ticket.

Both developments would be favorable for McGovern, Sindlinger reasoned. And it's difficult to fault his logic.

“That's great, Clark. It looks like we are finally cornering the turn. Pretty soon we should be able to see the tunnel at the end of the light.”

OPINIONS

The columns of the Lompoc Record are open to all expressions of opinion consistent with good taste and the laws.

The Record's aim is to present facts in its news columns and opinions in its editorial columns.

Proposition 7

Another of the Constitution revision measures on the November ballot is Proposition 7 which revises Constitution statutes dealing with the qualifications for voting, voting residence, primary elections and voting conduct.

The main reason this measure is on the ballot is due to federal legislation and supreme court decisions which have made obsolete these sections of our constitution. For example, our Constitution presently states that the legal voting age is 21 when it is presently 18. Our Constitution presently requires a precinct residency of 54 days prior to an election when the California Supreme Court last year lowered this requirement to 30 days. Our Constitution presently has an English language requirement when this has also been voiced by the California Supreme Court.

Proposition 7 basically gathers together all of the decisions and rewrites and updates the Constitution to conform to these decisions.

Despite the fact that we have disagreed with some of the more liberal Supreme Court decisions, it is only logical that our Constitution conform to the law of the land.

We recommend a "yes" vote on Proposition 7.

Playing politics

When Governor Ronald Reagan accused Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown, Jr., of playing politics he could only have been kidding. It must be the showman in him.

It is true that Brown has political ambitions. He recently disclosed he is considering running for Governor two years hence.

But to describe Brown's attempts to block the people from voting on initiatives as "politics" seems pure satire. Rowan and Martin should borrow the line.

Either that or Brown has discovered some new kind of politics. For it is inconceivable that any politician could dream of gathering votes by opposing the tide of public opinion.

When the voters reach the point of demanding the right to vote upon an issue and resort to the initiative to exercise that right, astute politicians get cautious.

Generally, they carefully test the water before commenting upon a ballot issue. Only after determining the popular side do they leap in.

Brown's effusiveness with regard to five of the nine initiatives therefore can only laughingly be called politics.

His first attack on Proposition 22 which he challenged in court is understandable. He could have been playing politics there since the proposal is bitterly opposed by some segments of labor.

But when he lashed out at four other initiative measures, three of which deal with problems which must rank foremost in the minds of the public, crime, property taxes and busing, he was defying popularity.

And his attack on the state employees' salary measure can only engender the enmity of more than 150,000 state workers, and their families who also vote.

A funny kind of politics for one who aspires to be Governor.

Brown alleges there were irregularities in the gathering of signatures for the ballot proposals. Undoubtedly there were. This is inevitably true with all initiative measures. It is for that very reason that sponsors gather many more signers than required. In the case of the death penalty measure nearly twice the 500,000 signers needed were obtained.

It seems significant that Brown has singled out certain of the initiatives for his challenges. The argument against the death penalty was written by his father, former Governor Brown. The argument against the farm labor bill was signed by John F. Henning, president of the State AFL-CIO. The argument against busing was written by the president of the California School Board Association. Brown was a school board member before his election to Secretary of State.

He has not raised any question on the proposal to legalize marijuana. He isn't challenging the so-called coastline protection measure, supported by U.S. Senator John V. Tunney and Speaker Bob Moretti, both Democrats like Brown. The conclusion is that he is only concerned with the irregularities connected with measures he doesn't like.

Brown is not alone in his criticism of the initiatives. Speaker Moretti, Assemblyman Henry Waxman and Senator Mervyn Dymally, all liberals like Brown, have joined in the chorus. The aversion of those espousing civil rights to permitting the voters to ballot on issues is incongruous.

A charge that Lompoc's subdivision ordinance is contributing to the city's housing shortage was made before the city council Tuesday by Harley Craig, local real estate agent who has been attempting to interest housing developers in coming into this area for the last two years.

Registration of rental houses and apartments under new rent control legislation will open in Lompoc Monday morning in the city library building it was announced by Pete Mitchell, area rent director.

A study of the feasibility of fluorinating Lompoc's water supply is being conducted by the city Light and Water Department, it was revealed this week by Emil Scolari, utilities head.

Interest in the possibility of bringing soft water to the city from wells north of the river was manifest at Tuesday's city council meeting.

The noxious weed morning glory is the most recent problem before the city council. Several property owners have protested the gradual spread of morning glory along numerous city streets, particularly in the suburban area. The noxious weed is spreading throughout the city and is a threat to suburban farm lands, it was pointed out at Tuesday's city council meeting.

The great turtle scare

Here they come, 15 million of them, turning on us at last after generations of having their shells laquered bright colors and decalced and being dive bombed into circular bowls with plexiglass palm trees.

Until 1952 turtles were considered safe if unmotivated family pets. But in that year English health scientists piled up incriminating links between the reptiles and Salmonellosis, a bacterial infection.

A recent American study has revealed that 34 per cent of water samples from turtle aquariums contain the germ and, writing in August's CALIFORNIA'S HEALTH Magazine, Dr. S. B. Werner spells it out:

Pet turtles are waging germ warfare on our kids.

In man this Salmonella infection produces a variety of disease ranging from no symptoms to death. Most people (75 per cent) develop gastroenteritis which includes, nausea, vomiting, fever, abdominal cramps, diarrhea, and possibly shaking chills, muscular aches and prostration.

Symptoms appear about a day after exposure and remain for several days. Complications usually don't develop and recovery is routine.

Dr. Edmund Bayer, a Health Department Veterinarian, estimates that there are 280,000 Salmonellosis cases yearly in the country traceable to little Fred and Myrtle. Among confirmed cases, about 50 per cent are children under four. The turtles themselves don't get sick.

Infection is actually caused by direct or indirect ingestion of contaminated turtle excrement, at first glance an unlikely occurrence until you realize that turtles in uncleaned bowls swim all day in their own excrement and youngsters love to pick up the pets and hold them.

Werner adds in his article that he believes many families have been contaminated when during the cleaning of turtle bowls at the kitchen sink, drops of the old water have landed on dishes. A small sample of old turtle water he continues, is likely to be very potent with the Salmonella germs and toddlers' habits of sticking their fingers into the bowl or eating the turtle's food (lettuce, etc.) or sticking the turtles in their mouths doesn't help.

The 13 million pets raised annually at the great turtle ranches of the South do not satisfy the U.S. market and another 2 million alien turtles are yearly imported. The Salmonella thrives in these vast herds and infects most of the reptiles.

Those that are sold free of salmonella can contract it from being fed contaminated foods, raw meat or Werner includes, through exposure to an infected child.

The Health Department has recently banned the shipment of live turtles into California before inspection. Pet stores must now display a sign warning that turtles may transmit bacteria and professional turtle buyers are now required to log their yearly transactions. Still, Werner describes the little friends as one of the most hazardous pets.

WYE RETRACTION

The figures noted in last week's Common Ground were inaccurate. This writer has since been informed that the true area of the Wye triangle approximates 23,000 square feet. With far from a surveyor's memory of areas or perhaps an ear-dinned numb by the roar of typesetting machines, he noted the area as 2,000 square feet in last week's column. The contractor's estimates are based on the lower figure and are also erroneous.

H & Ocean by Harry Crompe

The wishing flower

Patrick Longtin came down the sidewalk the other afternoon wearing his shorts and cowboy boots. Patrick is five. He was carrying a big stick and taking whacks at the ivy as he meandered down the sidewalk.

We were sitting out in front drinking a cold one as the Campfire Girls had taken over the inside of the house for a meeting. Patrick didn't see us as he left the sidewalk and cut across our lawn and positioned himself in front of our Princess plant. Our Princess plant is about eight feet tall and loaded with gorgeous purple blooms.

We watched as Patrick studied the Princess plant. He still was not aware that we were sitting out front and observing him. Soon, he reached up with his little hand and picked a bloom.

"Hey Patrick, you picking my flowers?" we asked. He seemed surprised.

"Yup."

"What are you going to do with the flowers?" we continued.

"They aren't real flowers," he explained. "It's my wishing plant."

"Your what?"

"My wishing plant," he mumbled. "I pick a flower and make a wish."

As we delved into the matter further, Patrick told us that the only flowers that work are the prettiest ones. Flowers that are wilted are no good and he pointed some out to me.

"What's your wish?" we asked as he picked another flower, looked up into the blue sky, crumpled the flower and threw it away.

"Can't tell you," he said flatly.

"But Patrick, you're using my flowers to make your wish so you ought to be able to tell me," we answered.

"Can't tell you."

"Do your wishes come true?" we asked.

"Yup. That's why I can't tell you. If I tell you they won't come true anymore."

We got the message and we hope sincerely that our Princess flower blooms every day so Patrick can keep on wishing and making his wishes come true.

THOUGHTS WHILE SHAVING

No more candy bars at the swimming pool after a good, hard swim. City forces deemed that the candy machines produced $600 revenue but their fantastic accounting system showed that the janitor spent $650 worth of time on the machine. Wonder, sometimes, whether that accounting system ever considers a "convenience" item ... Sometimes this environmental study business goes just too far. Now, it appears, that if you want to add a room on your house, government has to do an environmental impact study on the project before you can pound a nail so therefore another bureaucratic office will have to be set up and paid for to do the studies. And, as an after thought, just who is qualified to do environmental studies?
